AND 2 TORPEDO BOATS SUNK

Military Leader in Open Revolt Russian Victory in Naval Battle in the Baltic

SENSATION IN WASHINGTON ENGLAND MOURNS 1,100 LOST

marine Accomplished Destruction of Three British Cruisers

London, Sept. 23 .- The news of a Russian naval victory in the Baltic, in which a Russian cruiser sank a German cruiser and two torpedo beats, has lessened somewhat the dismay felt by the British public over the destruction of three British crais ers off the Hook of Holland.

The Russian armored cruiser Baiyan encountered the German warships in the Baltic while they were mine laying. After a short, spirited engagement the Baiyan sent the cruiser and the torpedo boats to the bottom and apparently escaped serious in jury. The Baiyan is a comparatively small cruiser, of 7,887 tons, and was completed in 1910. It is of twentyone knots speed and carries an armament of two eight-inch guns, eight six-inch guns and smaller batteries.

There can be no minimizing the disaster of last Tuesday morning. It is not the loss of three practically obsolete cruisers, although they were very useful, that England mourns; it is the loss of the great number of officers and seamen-now estimated at 1.133 It is as yet impossible to say exact ly how many officers and seamen met death in the torpedoing of the Aboukir. Hogue and Cressy. Undoubtedly the crew of the Aboukir suffered most only about fifty were saved out of the complement of 843. The Aboukir was since there is reason to believe that attacked first and its boilers exploded The blowing up of the boilers destroy ed what slim chances had existed for the officers and crew. The Aboukir's men were sleeping, save for the watch, when the German submarine discharged her torpedoes. They died almost before they were fully awake. The men of the Cressy and the Hogue had a slightly better chance because those ships, alarmed by the roar of the explosion which shattered the Aboukir, were hurrying to the rescue. The Hogue went down, it seems, fifteen minutes after the Aboukir disappeared and the Cressy was blown up a few minutes later. Unofficial reports received in Amsterdam from Berlin gay that a single submarine, the U-9, carried out the successful raid. This account says that the torpedo attack was made Tuesday morning at 6 o'clock in clear weather. The first attack was directed against the Aboukir, which sank in five minutes. The other two British cruisers then began the work of rescuing their comrades, in another three minutes the Hogue sank, while the foundering of the Cressy occurred about 8 o'clock. Submarine U.S. the report adds, evaded pursuit, and the hope was expressed in Berlin that she had reached a place of safety. The report that five submarines took part in the attack, of which two were sunk the statement says, is false. It reiterated that the attack was made by the U-3 alone and that the names of this vessel's crew of 20 men will be pub-

According to the stories told by survivors at Harwich, Eng., the less of life was heaviest on the Aboukir. This vessel was not expecting attack and many members of her crew were below. The other two vessels, while preparing to aid their doomed sister, had brought every available man on deck. One small midshipman related that he was on board the Cressy, the last of the British cruisers to go down The three vessels had been sconting, he said. A slight mist over the water obscured the view. Suddenly the Aboukir was seen to keel over heavily. All hands on the Cressy were called, and this cruiser stood by to render assistance. The Hogue, also coming in, arrived first. Just as she was swinging her small boats over she seemed to be lifted clear of the water. By this time the Aboukic had gone down, and the water around her from the face of the waters," was filled with wreckage and swimming men. Just as the Hogue settled back into the water the watchers on the Cressy caught a glimpse of a submarine and immediately fired at it. The submarine disappeared, evidently hit, "Then" in the words of the midshipman, "our decks rippled beneath our feet, but the good old tub recovered her balance and would have stayed up if we depressed, dizzy, billous and consti-

day, October 4

October 4th will be rally Sunday and the Second Congregational Sunday school will enter into a friendly contest with the Baptist Sunday school, to see which school gets out the largest attendance. A very interesting program has been aranged by the committee, with many new and striking features, among which is the construction of a light-house of brief's each member of the school being givon a brick to place in the structure. If the light-house is four and one-half feet high, it will require the presence of 270 scholars; it would be nice to NOMINATE CHAS. D. WATSON have enough present on Rally day to build the light-house a good deal higher, so it is hoped that every scholar, teacher and officer will be present that day to help in building the structure and also assist in winning out in the contest.

Next Sunday the new school motto for the coming year will be learned; it is from Matt. 5; 16: "Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Eather which is in heaven." Another feature of rally day will be the placing of "sealed orders" in a box, to be opened a year hence; each class is expected to take the matter ip and decide before October 4th, what particular work it will try to accomplish during the next year; these will not be seen by anyone else, but placed in the box and the sealed. More particulars later, Let each scholar begin now to stir up enthusiasm among his fellows.

Burlington, Sept. 23.-In the best organized state convention that the Vermont democracy ever held and with a voting strength of 470, the party in this city today fell into line with the old kuard and refused to go after strange gods.

By a majority of 62 the convention refused to endorse the nomination of Charles A. Prouty for United States senator and then went ahead and elected a straight party ticket for state officers.

The fight for Prouty endorsement was a hot one and there was much oratory on both sides but when it came to a count Mr. Prouty's total strength was 204 while the ballot showed Charles D. Watson of St. Albans had 266, Demonstration at the Meeting of Po-Mona Grange at Stamford.

A. William Swarzwald, who has : studio in New York city, went to Stamford Wednesday at the request of the officers of the grange and with an assistant gave a demonstration of the modern dances. The grange has been in the habit of holding a number of dances each winter and the officers desired that a demonstration be given by a qualified instructor in order that the members might deter- tion. mine for themselves whether or not the new steps were objectonable.

There is considerable interest in Rennington at the present time is the new dances and it is predicted that his inierest will increase as cold weather approaches. Mr. Swarzwald states that the objectionable features of the new steps are developed through attempts to dance them without proper instruction.

FIRE CAUSED BY LIGHTING

Barns Owned by Edward Lawrence in Sunderland Destroyed

Damage estimated at several thousands of dollars was the result Wednesday evening of lightning striking a wooden shack at Sunderland owned by Edward Lawrence. Four large barns, containing quantities of harnumber of wagons and light hicles, ignited from the shack and a racehorse valued at $2,000 was burned to death. For a time the railroad station and several frame dwellings were threatened, but with the heavy rain and the efforts of residents the fire was confined to the barns. Before the flames reached three of the structures men succeeded in resculng a number of cows and horses, but it was found impossible to secure the thoroughbred.

Mr. Lawrence is unable at the present time to estimate his loss, which is only partially covered by insurance. The first was discovered at 7:30 o'clock.
